

Supp Figure 4. Level of ATP from bath fluid of the colitis model. ATP released from the colonic mucosal tissues of the five treatment groups incubated over 16 h in bath fluid were measured by using the ATP Bioluminescence method. One-way ANOVA analysis did not reveal statistical significance between treatment groups.