

Supplemental Figure 1. Intestine of PBS-injected Asal-infected controls was highly necrotic, with many pyknotic nuclei and hemorrhage throughout (a). In contrast, vaccinated intestine retained normal architecture (b), and IgM+ lymphocytes were observed in the lamina propria, and migrating through intestinal mucosa (c).

