

High
educational level

Low
educational level

Supplementary Figure S1. Correct object recognition by age groups and educational levels. The histograms show the data distribution ranging from a skewed distribution in younger subjects of high educational level to a larger variance with normal data distribution in less educated elderly. Left column: high educational level; right column: low educational level; rows: age categories from 1 (first row) to 4 (last row).