

PaleoCT Scan Sheet

University of Chicago, Department of Organismal
Biology and Anatomy, Chicago, IL

|                            |                                            |
|----------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Database ID                | 7572                                       |
| Date Scanned               | 10/8/2020                                  |
| Specimen Name              | Thyreophoran                               |
| Specimen Number            | 0                                          |
| User Name                  | Lauren Conroy                              |
| PI/Client Name             | Paul Sereno                                |
| Description of Sample      | ribs D1-D9 (missing pt of D2)              |
| Voxel size(um)             | 76.0370                                    |
| Voltage(kV)                | 120                                        |
| Current(uA)                | 300                                        |
| Timing (ms)                | 1000                                       |
| Projections                | 1900                                       |
| Frame Averaging            | 3                                          |
| Skipped Frames             | 1                                          |
| Filter                     | 0.5 mm Cu                                  |
| Tube Used                  | 240                                        |
| Scan Time (hr:min)         | 2:09                                       |
| Grant Info (if applicable) | 0                                          |
| Specimen Origin (if known) | 0                                          |
| Notes                      | 0                                          |
| File Path                  | Sereno/Thyreophoran/THYRE_ribs_D1-D9_redo_ |

Scanned on a Phoenix v|tome|x s 240 with a dual 180 tube

PaleoCT Scan Sheet

University of Chicago, Department of Organismal Biology and Anatomy, Chicago, IL

|                            |                                             |
|----------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| Database ID                | 2135                                        |
| Date Scanned               | 6/7/2017                                    |
| Specimen Name              | Thyreophoran                                |
| Specimen Number            | H100-3                                      |
| User Name                  | Maria Viteri                                |
| PI/Client Name             | Paul Sereno                                 |
| Description of Sample      | Left frontal                                |
| Voxel size(um)             | 29.9860                                     |
| Voltage(kV)                | 170                                         |
| Current(uA)                | 180                                         |
| Timing (ms)                | 333                                         |
| Projections                | 0                                           |
| Frame Averaging            | 0                                           |
| Skipped Frames             | 0                                           |
| Filter                     | 0.3 mm CU                                   |
| Tube Used                  | 240                                         |
| Scan Time (hr:min)         | 0:11                                        |
| Grant Info (if applicable) | 0                                           |
| Specimen Origin (if known) | UChicago                                    |
| Notes                      | 30 W, 2 Avg, 0 Skip, 800 img, x=800, y=1600 |
| File Path                  | Thyreophoran_Sereno_2017                    |

Scanned on a Phoenix v|tome|x s 240 with a dual 180 tube